What are the factors that help in making education more meaningful in the 21st Century? If we wish to create a better future for our children, and if the future lies within the four walls of a school, then what should be the premise of a new education? What are the building blocks on which the foundation of a new education needs must be built? What are the outcomes of such an education for ALL our children? Indeed, what is our view of success in education beyond examinations and how do we ensure that all our children succeed in exams and in life? This session will be led jointly by Dr Sunita Gandhi and Dr Robert J Saunders, USA.
